

I own a car.

I own multiple cars, one or more for my husband/wife and/or children.

I have thought about how and why a question was asked.

Fire is better than water.

When I lie, I lie for my own benefit.

I am afraid of insects.

I look at smartphones more often than I look at nature.

I use little salt when cooking.

The limits of my language means the limits of my world.

Unlike others, I behave correctly for the most part.

I have a green thumb.

The concept of linear television suits me.

I see myself as part of something.

Man is a master animal.

Everything I ate eventually comes back to me.

I always try to lift from my knees.

Is the light at the end of the tunnel salvation or a train?

My fellow human beings are part of the masses.

If I am late, I rely on my charm.

An answer always consists of many layers.

I can juggle.

I am very sure of many things.

I have a knack for discounts.

I notice when language restricts the freedom of others.

Everything I buy has been made with as much joy by someone working on it, as I feel in buying it.

I have cut down a tree before.

I have already built a house.

In my garden, I know the order that nature needs.

Weeds are real.

I know my secret.

Now that I'm asked, I am able to think spontaneously of something that evokes sentimental feelings in me.

Beard is a statement.

I procrastinate more lustfully since I know the word.

I know boredom.

Solving a Sudoku makes me nervous, rather than letting me find peace.

I am ashamed of my pet.

I am proud of my pet.

Going to the sauna is a performative act for me.

Wearing a hat is not a statement.

I hear nature suffering.

I miss my sense of building.

I feel sorry for myself more often than others.

Fulfillment is achieved by a) hoping or b) wanting?

a) stew or b) bowl?

I doubt myself more often than others.

My first thought after waking up this morning was rather positive.

My last thought before going to sleep last night was more negative.

I know where or what my home is.

There are mistakes I make over and over again.

I get angry faster than I get sad.

I like to give gifts.

I have a uniform.

I keep some form of journal.

I live in the here and now.

I am diligent rather than dedicated.

I regret trampling an ant.

I pity the ant I have trampled.

I can enjoy.

I like emptiness.

White is a) purity or b) nothingness?

I know insomnia.

I have killed an animal and then ate it.

Fortune favours the bold.

I have experience with fate.

Over the years I have become a) more robust or b) more blunt.

When I stop working and protest, something will happen.

I'm not sure if God has anything to do with the future.